

Sri Lankan Anthuriums - ready to enter the World Market...

The government of Sri Lanka has identified Anthuriums as one of the priority crops for development and export promotion. Research is being carried out to select and develop new varieties from the existing varieties.

Imported Anthurium varieties are also available in Sri Lanka. There are about 150 growers cultivating imported Anthurium varieties for the export market. Planting material has been imported from the worlds best Anthurium breeding company "Anthura" in Holland.
