SRI LANKA EXPORT DEVELOPMENT BOARD

Exports have become important more than ever with the multiple challenges faced by the country today. The unprecedented changes due to the COVID-19 pandemic on the global economy has severely impacted the economies of many countries like Sri Lanka. Challenges are abundant in all spheres of lives of individuals as well as industries. Prudent planning is a key strategy for survival in this difficult time.

All serious planning activities are guided by carefully selected data on past performances. Data on past export performances therefore become key inputs in planning of industrialists to make them more resilient nurturing their export orders and in helping exporters to penetrate new markets.

At this important juncture, Sri Lanka Export Development Board presents its flagship statistical publication - "Export Performance Indicators 2020". This edition provides information related to external trade as a whole and its contribution to major economic indicators such as trade balance, GDP and individual sectoral involvement for the year 2020, and five preceding years. Historical data of selected important areas are provided for 10 preceding years. This volume is the 34th Volume of this publication, and its previous editions have been constantly used as a comprehensive and trustworthy reference by many researchers and policy makers.

The Data on value of exports presented in this publication are expressed in USD. They are arranged by regions of exports; and by products/product groups. EDB identifies 21 global regions; 68 markets; 151 products/product groups. Changes in percentage shares and annual growth rates are also indicated for easy reference.

I wish to thank the Sri Lanka Customs, and other government agencies that were generous in providing the EDB, with accurate data to be used in this publication.

EDB invites users of this publication to kindly provide feedback on the content and suggest improvements. This will enable us to continue this publication as a relevant and authentic reference for export related statistics in the future too.

The Policy & Strategic Planning team of the EDB coordinated this work. I thank all officers who worked tirelessly to make this publication a reality.

FORWARD

Sri Lanka Export Development Board (EDB) is the premier state organization entrusted with the task of developing and promoting exports from Sri Lanka. The EDB from its inception in 1979 engaged in developing products and promoting Sri Lankan exports abroad, to make Sri Lanka the most sought after destination for global sourcing in identified product & service sectors.

The EDB plays five key roles with ambitious plan as policy advisor, monitor, promoter, facilitator and knowledge provider in order to achieve its vision of "Position Sri Lanka as a Prominent Export Hub for Innovative Products & Services".

The Board of Directors of the EDB represents key Ministries and leading private sector entities at the highest level. To operate successfully, the organization is manned by a qualified and professional staff who are specialized in their respective areas of operation. The EDB work closely with other government and non-government agencies and private sector stakeholders with its strong relationship. The EDB actively support all stakeholders to implement the national plans.

The organisation covers the entire island through a network of provincial offices, further enhancing opportunities for buyers and suppliers. Having evolved into a dynamic and a focused entity that is proactive in outlook, the EDB is constantly on the lookout for new and innovative approaches to cater to the ever changing needs of the international market.

The EDB also focuses on broad-basing the beneficiaries of exports across the country with the objective of percolating the benefits of exports to the grass root level. As a trade promotion organization, it assists SMEs to penetrate in to new and existing markets by offering consultative services to small- and mid-sized businesses located throughout Sri Lanka and sponsors and co-sponsors educational seminars and training programs designed for exporters and potential exporters in the region. The implementation of a series of regional export development programmes by the organization will lead to long term, sustainable economic growth by absorbing the talents and capabilities of the rural sector into the export development efforts of the country.

19. MARKET CONCENTRATION OF SRI LANKA'S EXPORT PRODUCT SECTOR

Concentration index is a statistical parameter which provides a measurement of the market concentration of certain product, a product sector or of all products of a country as a whole. Ideally lower the market concentrations lower the risk for exports due to market failure. Market should be discrete and the share of each market should be fairly equal, so that the collapse of one or a few markets will not seriously affect the product's overall exports. To analyse the said scenario and evaluate the concentration index the following formula has been used.

Concentration Index = $\left(\sqrt{\left[\sum_{i=1}^{n}\left(\frac{xi}{X}\right)^2 - \sqrt{1/n}\right]}\middle|1 - \sqrt{1/n}\right) \times 100$

Xi = A Product sector's exports to country i (i = UK, USA, Italy…)

X = Total of a product sector's exports to all countries (X = Xi + .. + Xn)

n = Number of buyer countries

This formula takes into account the export share in each market of a particular product and calculates an index which can vary between the limits zero and hundred. The optimal situation of the index would be when the concentration index is zero, which is when the shares are exactly equal among all the markets. At the other extreme, the value goes up to 100 if the market shares are drastically different from each other with the difference between the highest share and the lowest share being considerably large.

The calculated indices for the main export product sectors of Sri Lanka are tabulated below.

THE HERFINDHAL INDEX

This index is widely used to measure the concentration of products mix exported by the country and is defined as,

Where xi is the export of commodity, X the country's total exports and N the number of export products. Index (%) approaching zero indicates less degree of concentration and index (%) approaching 100 implies a high degree of concentration.

29. CURRENT TREND IN GLOBAL DEMAND FOR SRI LANKA'S PRODUCTS 2020

The following chart shows the performance of top 20 export products of Sri Lanka in the international market in 2020. The bubble denotes a particular product and the size of the bubble represents the amount of that product (in US$ terms) we export to the world market.

Source : ITC Trademap

If the bubbles fall into the "Winners in growing sectors", it means that the world demand for the product denoted by the bubble is increasing and also Sri Lanka's share of that product in world exports is also increasing. Our export products, such as Machinery, mechanical appliances, Electrical, electronic equipment, Miscellaneous chemical products, Plastics & articles, Miscellaneous edible preparations and Residues & waste from food industry into this category. Trade promotion efforts for this product should aim to broaden the supply capacity to cater to the markets with increasing demand.

If the bubbles fall into the "Losers in growing sectors", it means that the world demand for the product denoted by the bubble is increasing but Sri Lanka's share of that product in world exports is declining. Our export products, such as Edible fruit and nuts, Vegetable planting materials, Natural or cultured pearls, precious or semi-precious stones, precious metals, etc. and Other vegetable textile fibres: fall into this category. As this product face supply side bottlenecks, it is important to identify and remove the constraints in order to regain the market share.

If the bubbles fall into the "Losers in declining sectors", it means that the world demand for the product denoted by the bubble is falling and Sri Lanka's share of that product in world exports is also falling. Our export products, such as Rubber and articles thereof, Articles of apparel, accessories, knit or crochet, Articles of apparel, accessories, not knit or crochet and Animal or vegetable fats and oils; fall into this category. Trade promotion efforts for these products in this group should adopt an integrated approach to remove both the demand and supply side constraints.

If the bubbles fall into the "Winners in declining sectors", it means that the world demand for the product denoted by the bubble is falling but Sri Lanka's share of that product in world exports is increasing. Our export products, such as Fish, crustaceans, molluscs, aquatic invertebrates nes, Ships, Boats & floating structures and Toys, Games & Sports Requisites; fall into this category. From a trade promotion perspective, niche marketing strategies are required to be adopted for these products.

The behaviour of exports of Sri Lanka as indicated above shows the importance of adopting product specific trade promotion strategies and measures to remove the specific demand or supply related constraints, which impede a more dynamic expansion of exports of the country. Such strategies would enable Sri Lanka to maximize on the opportunities generated in the global market and reap the maximum benefits from trade opportunities available for our export products.

One of the key objectives of the Government is to transform Sri Lanka's industrial sector into High – Value added, knowledge-based, globally competitive and diversified sector, which will then lead to the economic expansion of the country. A special emphasis has been given to product diversification through an outward looking growth strategy. While the government acts as a facilitator, the private sector drives exports of the country. Product diversification, introduction of innovative products, shifting from the existing traditional trade to non-traditional trade is very important to cater to the ever-changing global market.

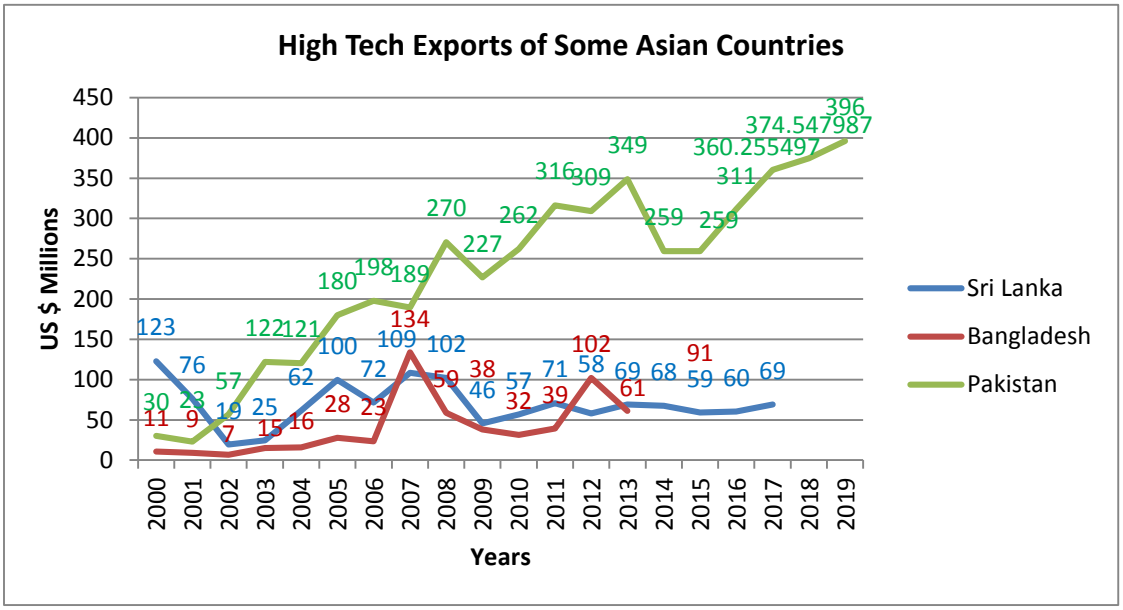

Sri Lanka is a leading producer of many traditional & non – traditional products in the world.
