

Link Natural

*pre*FACE

The legacy of Sri Lanka reaches much beyond its famed natural beauty, the blue seas and golden sands that surround its lush green land. Over the millennia its people had developed a system of healthcare that has stood the test of time. This valuable legacy has been preserved in the form of inscriptions on Ola leaves and from these inscriptions derives a direction for the future health and wellbeing of mankind. Link Natural was founded to serve as an agent to move in this direction and science was the obvious engine to give motion and value. The past of an institution can be the prologue to a new future and from that legacy left behind can be drawn new directions.

AYURVEDIC WISDOM
with a Science Engine

The company, Link Natural Products Private Limited, came into existence in 1982, its founders being passionate in their belief that the priceless legacy left to the world today was traditional wisdom and knowledge on the natural resources of the world. They were convinced that this knowledge was the basis of the health care system which existed during the early years. As a corollary, the philosophy of Link Natural Products is that natural products were a vast invaluable resource, awaiting systematic study and utilization for the benefit of mankind. Accordingly, the mission is to bring together ancient Ayurvedic knowledge and modern science and technology, to produce natural products of supreme quality that effectively serves wellness needs of the people. Moreover, these products are presented to the public in a manner befitting modern day requirements.

The LINK CAMPUS

The hamlet of Dompe, Sri Lanka where the present premises of Link Natural Products are situated, lies 40 kilometers east of the city of Colombo.

It is a verdant region, characterized by high rainfall and was once the valley area of a large rubber plantation. The campus is still congruous with nature, and it houses the complex of buildings of the present imposing campus. It is now a live herbarium of assorted medicinal and aromatic plant species.

Link Natural's interaction with the national scientific and technology sector extends to support the research activities at many Universities as well as the governmental and non-governmental associations.

Link Natural justifiably proud of its record is built up with their own expertise and passion for excellence displayed by the entire work force and represent a genuinely Sri Lankan venture.

Their capability is further augmented by access to specialized consultants who have had international reputation and wide expertise in medicinal and aromatic plants, pharmaceutical & cosmetic products and essential oils.

Science guided INNOVATION

Link Natural's fully equipped "clean" production facility and the dedicated R&D laboratory complex are unique to the country.

The R&D center includes a well outfitted chemical laboratory, a laboratory for instrumental analysis and quality assurance and quality controlling for all raw materials as well as finished products. Link Natural has their own scientifically optimized process protocols for all products manufactured and marketed by the company.

This R&D center is staffed by passionate scientists with qualifications in a variety of fields such as Chemistry, Pharmacy, Agriculture, Taxonomy & Microbiology and Ayurvedic practitioners as well as internationally distinguished technical consultants.

Quality products can only be obtained from quality raw materials. The company has easy access to the island's highest quality natural raw materials.

Leading edge scientific and technological expertise at the hands of Link Natural Products, have harnessed the best of these raw materials, to offer the product range an apical position for quality, in the international arena. Team of experts ensure that nothing short of the very best materials are employed in the production lines.

The factory is comprised of production units that accommodate multiple processes from storage of starting material up to storage of finished goods, through unit operations such as extractions, blending and packaging. All vital stages of the manufacturing processes are carried out in hygienic enclosures, using modern machinery and equipment, supported by standardized operating and quality assurance procedures. Thus, the resulting products are consistently in compliance with expected highest quality standards.

It is designed to ensure that all starting material are stored in controlled conditions, the herbal materials are purified prior to use for production and no contaminations occur during the flow of material through processes to produce the final products. Identification and traceability is maintained throughout the manufacturing processes, together with monitoring and measuring mechanisms that helps to continually improve the product and process technologies.

Link Natural's aim is to be a responsible corporate citizen wherever it operates. The Company's Corporate Social Responsibility initiatives are focused on three areas of great importance, Education, Healthcare and Rural Economic Development.

Education: Link Natural has initiated a student competency development project with the objective of building an excellent school and competent students. In the initial phase the project was focused to enhance the results of students in Grade 5 scholarship, O/L and A/L examinations. Now this project is further expanded to uplift student personality, leadership skills and attitudes and to strengthen the relationships between students and teachers.

Healthcare Development: Link Natural is consistently seeking opportunities to raise awareness on better health, especially among the less privileged people, who do not have access to health education. Common health problems with less attention are being addressed through these programs. "Teeth for Life" is the company's CSR initiative aimed at uplifting oral health. Link Natural supports the infrastructure and facility development of rural healthcare institutions.

Rural Economic Development: Link Natural partners with local farmers across the country to grow medicinal plants and through this initiative, rural farmers have been able to embrace innovative agricultural practices & increase their income. The Company has been able to get access to quality raw materials this way while contributing to the livelihood of rural farmers.

In Ayurveda, health is defined as a state where the physical body and the senses are in a state of equilibrium, and this is considered the natural state. When there is a situation where the equilibrium is upset that is the state of ill health. Ayurveda emphasizes the role of environmental factors, daily routine, seasonal changes, lifestyle, diet, exercise and the use of Tonics or Rasayanas in the maintenance of health.

Ayurvedic therapy addresses these concepts. To enrich the health care system of the world it is necessary to engage in the use of the Ayurvedic system and its wealth of expertise. Link Natural's initiatives on Ayurvedic pharmaceuticals are in accord with the dictates of this well-established ancient practice and is combined with the rigors of modern science.

Quality Essential Oils

Link Natural's initial venture was in Essential Oils and Spices. Within the concept of the soul of this island country, the alien poet may have taken note, not just of the natural beauty, but also the quality of the products. From these spices and other aromatic plants, the Dutch colonists, who preceded the British, distilled a variety of world's best essential oils, which they introduced into Europe at premium prices. The quality that drew acclaim from buyers in the 17th century, has still been maintained and even enhanced. The venture into the production of spice oleoresins also met with much success and Link Natural's products are much valued in the overseas markets.

SYMBOLS OF Recognition

Link Natural has gained both national and international recognition through its excellence in its work practices and quality of products. Sustainable work practices carried out were rewarded with the Presidential Award for Environmental Excellence and outstanding export performance of Herbal & Health-personal care products won the company many export awards during successive years. Company's production capabilities were recognized with the award for the Best Standardized Ayurvedic Pharmaceutical Manufacturer. Link Natural also won the Gold Award for Industrial excellence at the Ceylon National Chamber of Industries Achiever Awards for two consecutive years for its outstanding performance in the areas of quality standards, productivity, employee benefits, labour relations and social & environmental obligations. Conformity to international standards in the manufacturing process is a testimony to the quality of products in the international markets. Link Natural is proud to say that all these products are processed in accordance with ISO 9001, ISO 14001, HACCP and GMP standards.
