George Steuart & Co

has become one of the fastest expanding conglomerates in contemporary Sri Lanka.

We are proud to be the oldest corporate house in the country and one of the oldest mercantile establishments in the world.

George Stuart (1808 - 1896)

James Stuart (1790 - 1870)

Our History

The company was founded in 1835 by James Stuart, a British sea captain who sailed the Southern Seas and discovered Ceylon and its great commercial potential. James together with his brothers Joseph and George established themselves initially as merchant bankers.

Transforming into an agency house, over time the company became a large scale exporter of coffee, until the coffee blight hit Ceylon in the 1870s. Supporting the national export drive by converting its export interests to tea, the company continued its growth momentum.

In 1954, George Stuart & Co was incorporated. The new high-rise "Steuart House" located at the heart of the business capital became the company's headquarters.

The 1975 nationalization programme, adversely affected the company, which at this point in time was managing the largest acreage of tea plantations in the country.

Undeterred by this setback and gaining a renewed energy to succeed, the company recouped and set in motion a new drive to diversify and expand its activities. Fulfilling the needs and aspirations of the people, was always at the forefront of the company's progress.

Today, 178 years later George Stuart & Co Ltd is proud to be one of the most dynamic groups of companies, with business involvement in exports, health, leisure & travel, real estate, engineering, FMCG, telecommunications, shipping, insurance, recruitment and higher education.
