

CEYLON TEA STORY

The father of the tea industry in Ceylon - James Taylor, first planted tea commercially in 1867 and today the country exports around 300 million kilograms of tea to all corners of the world, and also has the distinction of conducting the largest tea auctions in the world, Ceylon tea is a predominantly cherished form of black tea from Sri Lanka. It has a golden colour and rich, intense flavour which many tea consumers greatly appreciate.

Ceylon Tea is said to be the BEST TEA IN THE WORLD because of its tremendous taste. Sri Lanka was known as Ceylon under colonialism, and the name has stuck for the tea as it was marketed from the time of the British in Ceylon

TEA AND HEALTH

Many scientific research support the ancient proclamations that tea as the most potent health beverage ever! Recent studies in leading medical journals declare tea as a potential heart tonic, cancer blocker, arthritis soother, virus fighter and cholesterol detoxifier. The chemicals in tea have been shown to protect the body against stomach, breast, colon, and skin cancers, to lower blood pressure, to lower serum cholesterol, triglycerides, and normalize blood sugar.
