THE HUB OF
THE PUBLISHING WORLD

Overview

The London Book Fair is the global marketplace for rights negotiation and the sale and distribution of content across print, audio, TV, film and digital channels. Staged annually, our in-person event typically welcomes more than 20,000 publishing professionals to London for the week of the fair to learn, network, and kick off their year of business.

The fair halls are arranged by sector, much like a giant bookshop. All segments of the publishing industry are covered at LBF, from mainstream publishers to specialised houses.
